GRADUATE NURSE RESIDENCY PROGRAM

Med Center Health offers a Graduate Nurse Residency Program designed to support and nurture new graduate nurses as they transition from a novice new graduate to an experienced, competent and confident nurse professional during the first 6 months of practice. Through this structured program, Med Center Health provides the support and resources that graduate nurses need to make this transition successful. Graduate Nurse Residency Orientation includes:

- Didactic presentations and discussion on clinical topics and patient situations
- Simulation with multiple patient situations and critical patient changes in a safe learning environment
- Hands-on experience with equipment
- Interdepartmental visits
- Department-specific classes to meet the unique requirements of your nursing unit
- Critical care classes for specialty nursing units
- Preceptor-led unit orientation
- Interdisciplinary teaching
- Advanced Cardiac Life Support certification training
- Pediatric Life Support certification training
- Trauma Informed Care training
