Commonwealth Health Foundation
2013

Yesterday is history.
Tomorrow is a mystery.
Today is a gift.
That's why it is called the present.

Alice Morse Earle

We are honored to lead THE CAMPAIGN FOR EXCELLENCE, which launched this year. Through this campaign, we will strengthen current Commonwealth Health Foundation initiatives while responding to new needs in the ever-changing world of healthcare.

One of the tremendous additions to our community is The Medical Center-WKU Health Sciences Complex (HSC). This facility houses a Patient Simulation Lab where sophisticated equipment is available for the training and continuing education of healthcare professionals. Already, staff at The Medical Center have realized the powerful impact of this training while caring for critically ill patients.

An Endowment for Education was established, and there is a strong need to build a reserve as we offer high-caliber healthcare education now and for generations to come. In addition, there are still naming opportunities available to help support the HSC.

The Hospitality House, Commonwealth Health Free Clinic and The Dental Clinic offer ongoing services that are vital to many people during times of great challenge. Because of this, the need to help remains great and is a priority of the Foundation.

We are honored to work together, improving the quality of life throughout our region. We hope you will join us as part of THE CAMPAIGN FOR EXCELLENCE.

Gratefully,

PAST

THE CAMPAIGN FOR EXCELLENCE was launched in 2013. The first project of the campaign was The Medical Center-WKU Health Sciences Complex.

The first gift of the year and the first gift to the Health Sciences Complex came from a very special lady, Agnes Clark. The gift was hand delivered to Connie Smith, President and CEO of Commonwealth Health Corporation and The Medical Center, by Mrs. Clark's two children, Doug Potter and Leanna Andrews. Neither Agnes nor her husband, Frederick Clark could be present for they had both passed away. But their legacy lives on because of a generous bequest.

Doug and Leanna shared warm family memories as they visited with Connie. Sadly, they lost their father at a young age. Their mother needed to find a way to support the family and determined that nursing was a good profession to enter, and she was right. The nursing profession opened many doors for Agnes. She began as a public health nurse, a job she enjoyed very much. Agnes was working as the Director of Health Services at WKU when she met her second husband, Frederick. Agnes was the first female, and only woman, to serve on The Medical Center Board of Directors, from 1958-1975. Her inspiration and guidance has touched many lives and will continue to do so.

When Commonwealth Health Foundation is remembered in a will, it is an opportunity for a legacy to be created. It is the chance for a gift to reach far beyond the lifetime of the giver and into the future.

Doug and Leanna agreed that nothing could have made their mother and stepfather happier than to know they were part of the wonderful new Health Sciences Complex. The education and training taking place is equipping medical professionals to serve at the highest level possible and these folks will achieve great things just as Agnes Potter Clark did. And that would make any mother proud.

PRESENT

The Medical Center-WKU Health Sciences Complex opened in August, 2013. This fabulous facility adds to the campus of The Medical Center and houses some of the most sophisticated technology available as both students and clinical staff perpetuate their education.

The Medical Center simulation lab is full of life-like virtual patients in realistic hospital care settings, allowing for a unique educational experience. An entire medical team, including physicians, nurses, paramedics and respiratory therapists can train in an interconnected way. The result is life-saving responses when real-life scenarios occur!

Complex

Dr. David Ciochetty is an Anesthesiologist and Interventional Pain Management Specialist who provides excellent care to those living in our region. He has served in the United States Army as a Black Hawk Pilot, and has practiced medicine in both military and private settings giving him lifetime experiences with simulation training. Dr. Ciochetty is passionate about the value of this specialized way of training. He fervently shares,

“The first time I used a simulator, I learned to drive.

The second time I used a simulator, I learned to fly.

The third time I used a simulator, I learned to save lives!

When I heard that the Health Sciences Complex was creating a simulation training lab for The Medical Center staff, I jumped at the chance to get involved. Simulated training in healthcare is the state-of-the-art style of learning in today’s medical environment. I’ve been in flight simulators during Army training. Military medical training focuses around simulation scenarios. The simulation training lab at the Health Sciences Complex is the best training facility I’ve seen! It utilizes integrated programs that can display vital signs on monitors, and has interactive training mannequins including adults, children and babies. These electronic virtual patients allow the clinician to feel a pulse, start an IV, take a blood pressure while the mannequin is blinking and talking.”

Dr. David Ciochetty and his wife Robin both have advanced degrees in the field of medicine and they understand the invaluable role the Health Sciences Complex has in our community. They also understand the vital role that Commonwealth Health Foundation plays.

FUTURE

The Foundation was able to provide the patient simulators and technology thanks to generous donors like Robin and David. The simulation lab offers high-level training that is not a part of most hospitals. This gift to our medical community and the community-at-large is possible because of donations from those who believe in the great value of educational excellence in healthcare. The Education Endowment has been established and provides a chance for donors to make contributions that have power now as well as for future generations.

David and Robin Ciochetty did not grow up in this area, but feel this is truly their home. They believe in giving back, and they’ve been generous supporters of Commonwealth Health Foundation initiatives, but feel a special connection with the Health Sciences Complex. Robin conveys her thoughts by saying, “We give to this community because it is where we live. Our family and friends live here. Someday in the future, we may need the advanced medical care available at The Medical Center and we want the people taking care of us to have the best learning opportunities available.” ■ ■

Dr. Narendra Nathoo and Dr. Clark Bernard are vital leaders of the Neuroscience Services team at The Medical Center. These highly skilled neurosurgeons provide excellent care for those dealing with serious issues of the brain and spine. Often, there are life-changing outcomes.

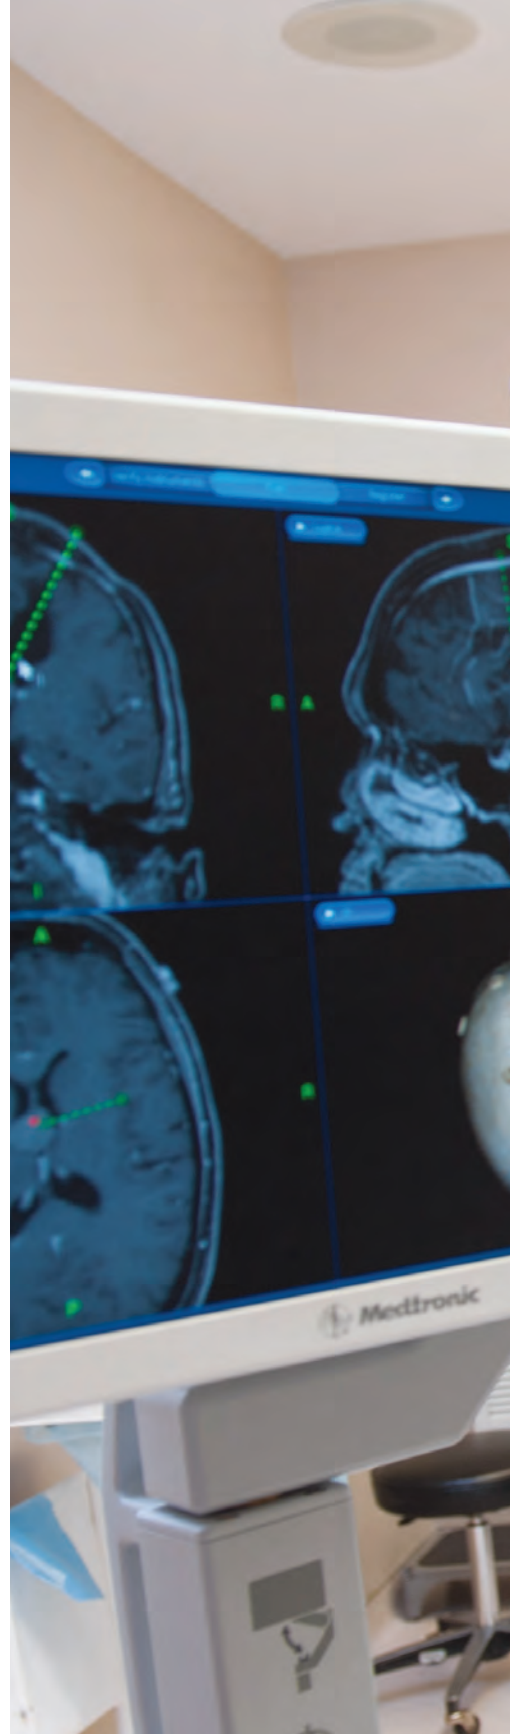

One powerful story is of a patient who had full restoration of sight after experiencing a progressive loss of vision. The human eyes are one of the most complicated organs of the body. People rely on all five senses, but undoubtedly, vision is the sense that is relied upon the most. Imagine the alarm of losing the ability to see.

The patient who had a restoration of sight had been given an initial diagnosis of glaucoma as the cause of the abnormal vision but chose to seek another opinion. The correct diagnosis was that a pituitary mass was compressing the vision nerves and the patient was referred to Dr. Narendra Nathoo for surgery. Using specialized equipment brought in to The Medical Center, minimally invasive surgery was then performed by Dr. Brad Morris, ENT surgeon, and Dr. Nathoo who removed the pituitary mass. The patient went on to have full restoration of vision. What a joyful outcome!

The patient felt deep gratitude and wanted to express this in a meaningful way. The patient's family chose to make a significant financial gift that allowed for the purchase of the sophisticated equipment, thus assuring that future patients could have immediate surgery without any wait time. As our medical services grow, there is a need for more community involvement, according to Dr. Nathoo.

“Equipment is very costly and in our current economic climate, the generosity of donors is a much needed part of maintaining the highest level of services with the rapid changes in healthcare and technology.”

This inspirational story of a patient's restoration of sight is an incredible example of gratitude in action that is bringing benefit to many others in our region! ■ ■

A Vision

for the Future

Hope

Cheryl Warner, a special lady in our community, dedicated her life to taking care of others. When the company she worked for closed its doors, she found herself without medical insurance. To make ends meet, she took a minimum wage waitressing job but continued to go without insurance because she could not afford the coverage. Cheryl had an active thyroid issue and was unable to pay for medicine to keep the problem under control. This was not a choice that she wanted to make, but one that she had to make financially. Shortly after stopping her medication, her face swelled to the extreme— it looked like she had been stung by bees.

Her daughter called several physicians' offices but was not able to get in to see them. Cheryl felt desperate and wanted to give up. She had become extremely ill during this time and thought she might even die. She felt hopeless. With nowhere else to turn, Cheryl heard about the Free Clinic through a co-worker at the restaurant.

Cheryl felt relief during her first visit to the Clinic and started immediately receiving the care she needed. ■■

“Everyone at the Clinic is so compassionate and they truly make you feel at ease. They show you that they really care about you as a person and what you are going through. They give you back hope at a time when you need it.”

Care

Dr. Tom Thompson believes in giving back to our community! He was born and raised on a farm near Owensboro in a large family. His family was not wealthy—but his parents did their very best with what they did have, and Tom learned the practice of gratitude. Tom became an oral surgeon and has been blessed with a very successful practice in Bowling Green. Tom enjoys giving! He is inspired to give back in a meaningful way and finds personal fulfillment in helping those who are in need.

The Commonwealth Health Free Clinic and The Dental Clinic serve those in our region who are working hard but cannot access or afford insurance or adequate healthcare. The Dental Clinic is available for routine dental matters and the patients pay a small fee based on their income. Frequently, patients postpone dental treatment until they are in extreme pain and in dire need of help. The Dental Clinic sends these individuals to Dr. Thompson, who offers his services to those who urgently require oral surgery treatment and life-changing care.

Tom shares his experience by saying,

“The patients I see are in critical need of treatment and are always extremely grateful for the services they receive! I am hopeful that more of my medical and dental colleagues will step up and utilize their God-given skills to help others. Working with The Dental Clinic is a fantastic opportunity to provide much needed services to our region.”

Radiant, shining smiles is the only proof needed! ■ ■

Hospitality

To know Jerry and Marilyn Patton is to love them! They are warm, engaging, interesting and funny. The handsome couple has been married for fifty years and worked together to raise a family and to run a business that helps others. In Edmonson County, Jerry, Marilyn and the folks at Patton Funeral Homes offer comfort and solace to people during one of the most difficult times of life.

There are other challenging moments in life and one of those is when illness strikes. Having a family member who is ill affects not only the patient but the entire family. When Jerry Patton entered the hospital, it was a crucial moment for the Patton family.

“ Sometimes a crucial situation can result in a very positive outcome!

After Jerry had his surgery, I wasn't comfortable getting very far from the hospital. I was aware of the Hospitality House and its purpose, but I had not toured the facility. I was so amazed at what a beautiful place it was. It had all of the amenities of home away from home.

My stress level was quickly relieved and I stayed four nights there until Jerry was released. I felt very comfortable, secure and was able to get a good night's rest, have a shower and refresh myself. I was also able to launder my clothes there. Most importantly, I was only minutes from the hospital and could get there quickly if need be.

For any family who may have a long hospital stay because of a serious or terminally ill loved one, please consider inquiring about the Hospitality House and make your hospital stay a more stress free and pleasant experience. My experience was a very rewarding and pleasant one!”

Marilyn knew the Hospitality House was near The Medical Center, but she wasn't totally sure about what it was like until she needed it. Marilyn shares her experience with eloquence.

In addition to the benefits the caregiver receives, the patient has rewards as well. Jerry Patton expressed how he felt calm and relief during his hospital stay knowing his wife was in a safe place and close by. That feeling of security alleviated worry and allowed him to focus on the healing process.

Jerry and Marilyn have generously given back by supporting the Hospitality House as donors and by serving as enthusiastic ambassadors for Commonwealth Health Foundation. ■ ■

Generosity

quin-tes-sen-tial
the pure and essential essence of something

phi-lan-thro-pist person who makes an active effort to promote human well-being

Mr. Jerry Baker is the quintessential philanthropist! His genuine desire to give comes from a wellspring of deep, personal gratitude. Mr. Baker did not grow up experiencing all of the ideal advantages he wants others to have. But what he did have was the maturity to recognize the value of education and the ethics of hard work which allowed him to change the pathway of his future.

Mr. Baker has long been an advocate for excellence in healthcare in our region. He committed his gift of strong leadership from the very start of Commonwealth Health Foundation and worked with other dedicated individuals to start The Warren Society.

He recalls the power of engaging his peers.

“Knowing that one hundred percent of every dollar we raised stayed in our community and was directed to help others allowed Commonwealth Health Foundation to stand out. This unique quality continues to help us engage more donors and grow!”

Mr. Baker has been involved since the start of the Foundation and he continues to generously bless others. As a visionary, he was intrigued to learn more about the new Health Sciences Complex and The Medical Center patient simulation lab. He was excited to learn about the opportunity to have the most advanced technology and training available right here for the benefit of our medical community. And so Mr. Baker gave, and our patient simulation lab continues to grow. As a world traveler, he believes that Commonwealth Health Corporation provides the very best healthcare in our region and beyond.

As a founding member of the Warren Society, Mr. Baker is proud of what has been achieved. As an ongoing donor, he has stayed committed to the present needs of the Foundation even as he invests in our future.

Mr. Jerry Baker shares his heartfelt philosophy. “The personal reward of giving to impact others far exceeds the value of the actual gift!” ■ ■

Charity Ball 2013

Success

Wow! The Charity Ball once again promised and delivered a captivating evening for donors of Commonwealth Health Foundation. It was truly an amazing night as those in our community came together to share a common cause.

The theme, The Great Gatsby was carried out through the night with dress, food, decorations and dueling pianos captivating the audience. The Sloan Convention Center was transformed into a Gatsby night to remember with dancing to an outstanding band, City Lights.

The 2013 Charity Ball kicked off with the first time ever "Charity Ball Lawn Party" held at the elegant home of Shannon and Michael Vitale. More than 100 guests arrived dressed for the theme, "The Great Gatsby." The evening was as delightful as any fabled party of the Roaring 1920's. What a wonderful evening and great start to a fairy tale ending with the Charity Ball.

Growth

Gifts come in all shapes and sizes. An envelope bears a check, a fundraising event reflects countless donor hours, a smile beams the results of dental care. . . and a tree becomes a symbol of treasured memories from before, memories we create now, and memories we know will be cherished by future generations.

George Schiff knows a lot about trees! When he learned that Commonwealth Health Foundation needed an evergreen tree for Make The Season Bright, he quickly donated his professional services as an arborist, and offered to find, harvest and plant a beautiful tree. Make The Season Bright celebrations are held on The Medical Center campuses in Bowling Green, Scottsville and Franklin during the holiday season. People give donations for loved ones that are reflected in the sparkling lights that adorn a holiday tree as funds are raised to benefit Commonwealth Health Free Clinic and The Dental Clinic.

George knew just the sort of tree that was needed in Bowling Green but his careful plans to bring in a tree from the East Coast were derailed by unexpected weather patterns. More than once! But George kept the faith.

Who better to be a part of these unforeseen circumstances than our local weather celebrity – Chris Allen. With only days to go before the celebration, the tree finally arrived. George’s team shivered outside of The Medical Center, in frigid conditions, to plant the tree on the very day that Chris welcomed his newborn baby grandson. Several evenings later, Chris took on his traditional role of hosting Make The Season Bright. Twinkling lights cast a magical glow as musicians sang and heads were bowed in silence. Then Chris shared his emotional story of becoming a grandfather on the day the tree was planted. Chris looks forward to bringing his precious grandson to future celebrations around the tree. As the child grows, so the tree will grow deeper roots and branches that reach heavenward as many generations continue to Make The Season Bright. ■ ■

When we plant a tree, we don't plant it for ourselves but for our children.

"Mother" Wyatt*

Dedication

Positive energy and radiant goodness shine forth from Emily and Ronnie Martin who are part of the Commonwealth Health Corporation family. Warm sincerity and a passion for helping others make them gracious ambassadors for ECHO (Employees Contributing to Help Others). ECHO is an important channel of support for Commonwealth Health Foundation initiatives.

“We always try to remain thankful and humble for what we have, and it’s nice to know that our contributions bless others. With the ECHO program, there are wonderful benefits to collective giving. Even donating a small amount can make a large impact. This gift will continue to help others for years to come.”

The Martins support several Commonwealth Health Foundation initiatives, including The Medical Center – WKU Health Sciences Complex, Free Clinic and Hospitality House. They are able to speak with conviction because of the positive impact they witness first hand.

Ronnie Martin is the Network Contracting Manager at Center Care, while Emily oversees the Commonwealth Regional Specialty Hospital which serves those who need extended critical care after a serious illness. Through her daily work as the Administrator/Director of Patient Care, Emily witnesses the benefits that come from just one of the initiatives the Foundation supports—the Hospitality House, which is only a few steps away from the hospital. The Hospitality House is a “home away from home,” and a haven for families who are staying weeks at a time with their loved ones in the hospital. Emily shares, “These families desperately need that breath of fresh air during a difficult time. They are always so appreciative and complimentary about their stays!”

Family is an important value for The Martins as they happily await the birth of their son, Garner. They hope he will grow to learn the importance of giving back. With Emily and Ronnie leading him by example, our community can rest assured the circle of life and love will keep moving forward. ■■

Do what you can, with what you have, where you are.

Theodore Roosevelt

Dear Friends,

Your valuable gifts to Commonwealth Health Foundation make a difference in the lives of many people! Thank you for gifts that bring hope, health and transformation, allowing others to thrive. Thank you for gifts that provide comfort and support to individuals and families during a time of great need as well as gifts that allow for discovery and education as we learn about new ways to serve others.

Thank you for gifts that save lives!

Because of you, The Medical Center – WKU Health Sciences Complex opened wide its doors to education, learning and simulation training at the highest level possible for those in the medical profession. Your generous and steadfast support allows the Hospitality House to always be welcoming and available for weary caregivers who have a loved one in the hospital. After a long and exhausting day, that same haven is ready for those who are undergoing outpatient treatment. Need for The Dental Clinic continues to grow just as Commonwealth Health Free Clinic remains an anchor for those hardworking individuals who require access to basic healthcare and have no other options. Your gifts of time, talent and treasure allow us to build and sustain initiatives that improve the quality of life for those living throughout our region, as we work together.

Each and every gift matters. And behind every gift there is a story; whether from the past, a story of today or one that will have a future impact. All of these stories are about people. And people helping other people is what Commonwealth Health Foundation is all about!
