Med Center Health is expanding their occupational health services for employers and employees across the region. Vice President of Physical Rehabilitation Jase Pinerola explains

[JASE PINEROLA]

With the additional of new hospital locations, sports medicine physicians and expansion of our rehab services, we're really able to offer a more comprehensive occupational health model.

[BEVERLY HERBERT]

These services include caring for work-related injuries and overseeing rehabilitation, pre-employment screenings, corporate wellness initiatives, health education and urgent care services.

[JASE PINEROLA]

We're currently offering on-site services with nurse practitioners that treat the employees and their dependents for work-related and non-work-related illnesses.

[BEVERLY HERBERT]

And these services have many benefits.

[JASE PINEROLA]

They help with the productivity and minimizing lost time for the industry; and it helps them really as a recruitment tool for the employee with initiatives of on-site services and urgent care kind of services. There could be a real cost savings.
